

JANE FRANKLIN DANCE BRINGS MOVEMENT TO A WIDE RANGE OF AUDIENCES BY

- engaging Older Adults at on site workshops at community centers,
- by offering free performances and open rehearsals that communicate the artistic process,
- by encouraging active involvement by people of all ages, gender and ethnicity,
- with performance projects that combine community members with professional dancers,
- with personal enrichment through integrative dance technique classes.

Community workshops and performances provide an invaluable social, physical and creative exchange. We bridge the gap between age, culture and even language to unite people through movement. On stage, outdoors, or at a neighborhood gathering, Jane Franklin Dance shares collective experience through dance.

OUR WORK IS IMPOSSIBLE WITHOUT THE HELP OF OUR KIND CONTRIBUTORS

Individual support has made possible community projects for older adults and youth, concert production, and the creation of exciting new collaborations on stage. We need your help in order to continue.

Whether sponsoring one activity or a single person, you become a part of work that benefits the community through the expressive power of creativity and active participation.

“...conclusive proof that compelling art can be developed with community participation.”

Nicole DeWald,
Arts Coordinator City of Greenbelt MD
